The Relevance of the University

The land-grant tradition which this University has as an important part of its inheritance is great, good and proven. It must not be jettisoned but further extended into new intellectual disciplines. We must be in the library, but we must be in Watts. We must be in the laboratory, but we must also be on the moon. We will be in the lecture rooms, but we will also be in the operating rooms. Without apology, indeed with undisturbed and I hope growing commitment, we will serve the world of pure scholarship and the world of man and his problems, and both with distinction.

To Prepare Students

The University exists not to protect students, but to prepare them. The most fundamental resource that the University can provide is the free marketplace of ideas where, without fear of retributions, men can express, debate, analyze, test and forever search for the truth by their honest lights—wherever that search may lead.

But the struggle to maintain the freedom of this marketplace is made rational and effective only if those who use it do not abuse it. Only a disciplined faith in the time-honored and time-tested principles of integrity, honesty, objectivity and a respect for the law and rights of others will suffice.

In 1947 the Regents of the University of California authorized the establishment of a School of Law on the Los Angeles campus and the Legislature of the State appropriated funds for the construction of a Law School building. The first class was accepted in 1949 while the School was located in temporary quarters on the campus. The building was completed in 1951, and in 1966 a new wing was added, giving the School modern and spacious study facilities. The School is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is on the approved list of the American Bar Association. Members of the student body are drawn from all over the country, and graduates of the school are qualified to become applicants for admission to practice in any state of the United States.

The School of Law is designed to produce lawyers well prepared for the various private and public roles which are assigned to members of the legal profession. An understanding of the rules and forms of law is primary and essential. But more than that is required. Effective participation in the legal profession has always demanded an appreciation of the social context in which legal institutions are made and shaped, and of the uses of law as the instrument of guided change. The School of Law is committed to these goals, first in carrying out its instructional program, and also in serving as a center for legal-social research. Legal institutions throughout the community—and in our time the community is world-wide—are subjected to continued scrutiny both by the School's faculty and by its students. In teaching as well as research, the School of Law draws upon the resources of scholars in the social sciences and other disciplines. UCLA seeks to produce lawyers alive to their unique and weighty responsibilities as members of an old and learned profession, dedicated as much to the protection of individual freedom as to "those wise restraints that make men free."

THE LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library is a growing collection of more than 170,000 volumes, selected to further the course of instruction, familiarity with the use of source materials needed in the practice, and general legal research. Central to the Library's collection—as to our common law system—are reports of decided cases in the fifty states, the Federal Courts, and the British Commonwealth, together with the digests which give access to those decisions. Next in number as well as importance are statutes of these jurisdictions, along with the administrative rulings and interpretation of daily concern in specialized fields such as taxation. The Library's substantial collection of legal treatises covers the period from Medieval England through the latest commentaries on uniform laws, supplemented by current periodical literature. Some materials are available to promote the widest range of the student's inquiry, whether in legal history, Roman law, or the philosophy of law.

Admission to the School

PREPARATION FOR THE STUDY OF LAW

The School does not prescribe any fixed pre-law course. Successful study of law is more often related to an acquired habit of disciplined work with difficult intellectual problems than to the possession of any special body of facts. Certain general objectives of a pre-legal education can, however, be given. The Association of American Law Schools has stated these objectives under three broad headings: education for comprehension and expression in words, education for critical understanding of human institutions and values, and education for creative power and thinking. The skills, understanding and cultural foundation encompassed in these statements can be gained from many fields of study. The law is peculiarly a discipline where every branch of knowledge will prove useful to the student and the practitioner. The best courses for pre-law study vary with the school at which the pre-law degree is taken, and students are urged to seek local advice.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO THE FIRST-YEAR CLASS

Applicants for admission to the professional curriculum of the School of Law, leading to the degree of Juris Doctor, must have received the baccalaureate degree from a university or college of approved standing prior to the time at which they begin their work in the School of Law. Such college work must have been of superior quality and must indicate that the applicant is qualified for the study of law. The School of Law receives more applications from qualified applicants than it can accept and admission is on a competitive basis. Applications for admission in September 1968 must be filed no later than May 1, 1968.

Applicants must have achieved a satisfactory score on the Law School Admission Test.

Students beginning their professional work are admitted only in September.

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST

The School of Law cooperates with the Educational Testing Service and with other law schools in the development and administration of a uniform Law School Admission Test. The test is designed to measure aptitude for professional study and to enable the School of Law to learn something of the writing ability and general liberal arts background of the applicant. No special preparation for the test is necessary. Centers where the test may be taken have been established for the convenience of applicants in all parts of the country. The test is required of all applicants for admission to this School and should be taken during the academic year preceding the one for which admission is sought.

The Educational Testing Service will supply each applicant with a bulletin of information giving details with respect to administration and including practice questions. All questions concerning the Law School Admission Test should be addressed to the Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Application Procedure

Application and Official Transcripts

The application for admission to the School of Law should be made on a form supplied by the School. Official transcripts of all college, university, and professional school records, including all work which may have been done at the University of California, Los Angeles, should be sent to the Admissions and Records Office, School of Law, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024. Actual receipt by the School of Law not later than May 1, 1968, of the application, the Law School Admission Test score, and official transcripts through the fall semester or winter quarter, as applicable, is the applicant's responsibility. Applicants will be notified when all the records necessary for a decision on admission have been received. Admission is granted on a competitive basis with the principal emphasis being placed on the score in the Law School Admission Test and the last two years of undergraduate study.

Application Fee

Each candidate for admission to the School of Law must pay an application fee of $10. Remittance by bank draft or money order should be made payable to The Regents of the University of California, and should accompany the application. Applicants who submit evidence of having paid an application fee at the graduate level elsewhere in the University need not pay this fee.

Law School Admission Test

Applicants may receive forms and information concerning the Law School Admission Test from the Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. The Law School Admission Test will be given on the following dates: February 10, 1968; April 6, 1968; August 3, 1968; and in November, 1968, the exact date to be announced.

Applications, together with the examination fee of $12, must be received in Princeton at least two weeks prior to the date of the test. The applicant should request on his application that his score be reported to this School. Applicants are urged to take the November test in order to expedite the decision on their admission to the School.

English Language Test

Applicants for admission whose collegiate education has been undertaken in countries where English is not the language usually spoken may be required to submit evidence of competence in English. In appropriate instances the Test of English as a Foreign Language administered by TOEFL, 1755 Massachusetts Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20036 or the "Examination for the Certificate of Proficiency in English" administered by the English Language Institute, University of Michigan, North University Building, Ann Arbor, Michigan, will be employed.

Applicants will be advised by the Law School if testing is deemed necessary.

Honor System

Any person admitted to the UCLA School of Law is required to abide by the Honor System as set out below.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants who have completed at least one year (30 semester units or 45 quarter hours) of satisfactory work in another law school may be candidates for admission with advanced standing, with credit for not more than one year (30 semester units or 45 quarter hours) of professional work if:

(1) The applicant has received his baccalaureate degree from a university or college of approved standing;

(2) Two semesters or three quarters of professional work in regular session, or their equivalent, have been undertaken in a school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools; and

(3) He received no credit toward his baccalaureate degree for the professional work for which he seeks credit for advanced standing in this School.

The acceptance of a candidate for advanced standing and the amount of credit to be allowed for his previous professional work are discretionary. Credit will not be given for unsatisfactory though passing work. Candidates must furnish this School with official transcripts of their college as well as all their law school work. Application for admission to advanced standing may be made at any time, subject to the dates noted below, but a decision on these applications can be made only after the receipt of these official transcripts. In general, a B average is required for admission with advanced standing.

No applicant will be admitted as a candidate for a degree who has attended another law school and who is ineligible to return to that school in good standing. A letter is required from the dean of the law school previously attended, stating that the applicant is eligible for readmission.

No application for admission to advanced standing in 1968 will be accepted after August 15, 1968.

FEES AND EXPENSES

Each student in the School of Law pays each quarter, when registering, an incidental fee of $73 charged all graduate students in all departments of the University, plus a Student Union fee of $4 and a fee of approximately $1.50 for membership in the Graduate Students Association.

A nonresident of the State of California pays a fee of $327 per quarter in addition to the fees listed in the above paragraph.

Refund of a part of the incidental fee (and of the nonresident tuition fee, if paid) is made to a student who withdraws from the University within four weeks from the first day of classes.

No claim for refund of fees will be considered unless such claim is presented during the fiscal year to which the fee is applicable. No student will be entitled to a refund except upon surrender to the Registrar of his registration card and receipt. Each student provides his own books and supplies. The annual cost varies from $150 to $200.

MEDICAL AND PHYSICAL EXAMINATION

All new students must appear at the Student Health Service and either take a physical examination or present a report, on the UCLA physical examination form, of a recent examination performed elsewhere. This requirement applies to former UCLA undergraduate students entering graduate status for the first time and to students who are returning to the Law School after an official withdrawal as well as to students entering the University.

Program of Study

THE JURIS DOCTOR DEGREE

Residence and Unit Requirements

The candidate for the degree of Juris Doctor must have pursued resident law school study for nine quarters. The residence requirements may be satisfied as follows:

(1) Nine quarters in regular session in this School; or

(2) Three quarters in regular session, or their equivalent, in a school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools; coupled with six quarters in regular session, or their equivalent, in this School.

The candidate for the degree must have completed satisfactorily at least 127 units (quarter hours) of work with an average grade of not less than 65 on all work undertaken in this School. In order to receive unit credit for summer session work undertaken in another law school, a student must have a grade average of 70 or better in all work undertaken in this School. In no event may a candidate for the degree be credited with more than 45 units (quarter hours) of credit for work undertaken in another law school.

Every first-year student is required to take the full schedule of required courses; every second- and third-year student is required to take a minimum of twelve hours and may not take more than sixteen hours each quarter. These rules apply to all students whether or not they have attended Summer Session.

Study in Other Departments

Candidates for the J.D. degree are permitted, with the approval of the appropriate faculty committee, to take two courses in UCLA departments other than the School of Law, for which law-school credit will be allowed.

These courses will normally be at the graduate level although upper-division courses may in special cases be permitted. They will usually be taken on a pass-fail basis. The grade actually received will be recorded on the student's Law School permanent record card but not included in the computation of the law school average.

The opportunity to take non-law courses for credit makes it possible for some students to be awarded both the J.D. and the M.A. degrees at the end of four years of combined study in the School of Law and another department.

The program is to be supervised by the Law School Committee on Outside Courses. Students must obtain approval from this Committee and the appropriate administrative person within the other academic departments before Law School credit can be granted.

Scholarship and Attendance Requirements

ATTENDANCE AND GRADES

The right to take examinations, as well as the privilege of continuing as a student in the School of Law, is conditioned upon regular attendance at the exercises of the School and adherence to the Honor System.

Following is the grading scale of the School of Law:

85 and above—A, or excellent and definitely superior

75 to 84 incl.—B, or good and above average

65 to 74 incl.—C, or average and satisfactory

55 to 64 incl.—D, or poor

Below 55—Failure

UNSATISFACTORY PERFORMANCE

A student must maintain a minimum average grade of 65 during each year of law school. In addition he must maintain a cumulative average of 65 to be computed at the end of his fifth quarter and at the end of each succeeding quarter.

Failure to maintain the minimum average grade will result in dismissal. However, a student who has finished his first year with an average between 64 and 65 will be permitted to continue on probation. A student on probation must raise his cumulative average to 65 or above at the end of his fifth quarter, and must otherwise comply with the requirements of the preceding paragraph.

For the above purposes, "year" means the first three quarters and each successive three quarters of work. "Quarter" means any quarter including a summer quarter in which the student takes a sufficient number of units to meet the residency requirements.

Honor System

An Honor Code has been established by the Student Bar Association of the University of California, Los Angeles, School of Law to promote among its membership a sense of individual responsibility, integrity and honor worthy of the high standards of conduct and morals which govern the legal profession. Its intent is to confirm and foster during the period of law school training the same standards of conduct, where relevant, that will pertain in future professional life.

Each student enrolling in the School of Law is required to indicate (in writing) his willingness to abide by the Honor Code expressed in terms of the following pledge:

Mindful that, as students preparing to enter the profession of law, we are governed in our educational activities by the same high standards of conduct and morals which govern our future profession, I hereby agree to abide by the spirit of Canon 29 of the American Bar Association, which states:

Lawyers should expose without fear or favor before the proper tribunals corrupt or dishonest conduct in the profession . . . The lawyer should aid in guarding the Bar against the admission to the profession of candidates unfit or unqualified because deficient in either moral character or education. He should at all times strive to uphold the honor and to maintain the dignity of the profession and to improve not only the law but the administration of justice.

Breaches of the conduct prescribed by the Honor Code are considered serious professional infractions and are dealt with accordingly. A Student Honor Committee administers the Honor Code and conducts all necessary proceedings attendant thereto with a view to effective operation of the Code. (Copies of the Honor Code are available in the office of the Assistant Dean, School of Law, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024.)

Outside Employment

The faculty of the School of Law affirms as fundamental educational policy that outside employment of students either of a legal or any other nature is discouraged. The curriculum of the School requires the full time of students. Outside work can never be pleaded to seek an adjustment in a student's schedule of classes or to justify inadequate academic performance.

Faculty Right to Require Withdrawal or Refuse Degree

Whenever the faculty is informed of facts which, in its opinion, indicate that a student's continuance in the School would not be in the School's best interests or that he is not a person of such character or integrity as to be qualified for admission to the legal profession, it may require the student to withdraw at any time or refuse to award him a degree even though in all other respects he is in good standing.

Five-Year Rule

The maximum amount of elapsed time permitted between first admission to this School of Law, or to any law school from which advanced standing is sought, and graduation shall be five (5) years.

MASTER OF LAWS

Beginning in the 1968–69 academic year, the School of Law will offer to a limited number of candidates a two-year program of instruction and research leading to the degree of Master of Laws (LL.M.), in which candidates will concentrate their study on the law and legal institutions of developing countries. The program of study will typically involve two quarters in residence at UCLA, followed by four quarters in an African or a Latin American country during which the candidate will be attached to a university, a government office, or a law office in the host country, and concluding with two more quarters in residence at UCLA. The J.D. (or LL.B.) degree, or its equivalent, is a prerequisite to admission for candidacy for the LL.M. degree.

MASTER OF COMPARATIVE LAW

The School of Law has since 1963 offered a one-year program of instruction and research leading to the Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.) degree for foreign-trained lawyers. Those persons admitted to candidacy, who have completed at least three quarters of residence and a minimum of 36 quarter hours (including thesis) of credit in courses approved by the Committee on Graduate Study, will be granted the degree.

At the present time, the School of Law is accepting a very limited number of persons into the program, primarily people from certain African and Latin American countries.

Further information concerning the Master of Laws and the Master of Comparative Law program is available upon request from the Admissions and Records Office, School of Law, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024.

Student Honors Organizations

THE UCLA LAW REVIEW

Membership on the UCLA Law Review is one of the most coveted honors available to exceptionally qualified students. The work of the UCLA Law Review presents an opportunity for experience in legal research and writing on a par with that which is done in the better legal offices in the practice of law. The caliber of the work done by the first-year law student determines his eligibility for invitation to participate in the UCLA Law Review work in his second and third years. However, students who have transferred to UCLA from other law schools as well as those whose first year was spent at UCLA will also be considered for invitations to become candidates on the Review after receipt of grades for the Winter Quarter of their second year.

The regular subscription rate is $7.50 per year, and it is recommended that all students subscribe. Further information may be obtained by addressing the Secretary, UCLA Law Review, School of Law, University of California, Los Angeles, California 90024.

ROSCOE POUND COMPETITION

The Roscoe Pound Moot Court Honors Program is a student organization that strives to foster the ideal of the scholar-advocate typified by the jurist whose name it bears. Each year a select group of students from the second- and third-year classes who combine academic achievement with demonstrated ability in oral and written argumentation are invited to join in a series of appellate arguments as counsel and judge.

All first-year students compete in the preparation and argument of one appellate case before a bench consisting of present members of the program. Those who achieve the highest standing in the first-year competition and who meet the academic requirements of the program are invited to membership. In their second and third years, members compete in further hearings to select the UCLA representatives for state and national competition.

Second- and third-year hearings are judged by distinguished members of the bench and bar. Membership in Moot Court, therefore, affords a unique opportunity for contact with the practicing profession in an atmosphere simulating actual appellate practice.

ORDER OF THE COIF

A chapter of the Order of the Coif, a national law school honor society, has been established in the School of Law. Election to membership in the Order of the Coif is limited to those graduating members of the senior class who rank in the highest 10 per cent of the class in scholarship.

Student Activities

A variety of programs which involve the entire student body of the School of Law are conducted under the sponsorship of the Student Bar Association. This Association is composed of all students registered in the School of Law. The governing and policy making body of the Association, the Executive Committee, is composed of 13 members, elected or appointed, who represent a broad spectrum of student opinion.

The UCLA Docket, published by the Association, is the newspaper of the students of the School of Law. It draws its membership from all three classes. Staff membership offers experience in writing, reporting and editing for a legal publication. The Docket is published monthly during the academic year and has been awarded the highest recognition among law school newspapers. Circulation is to all students, faculty and alumni, as well as to prominent members of the legal community. Articles range from coverage of significant events within the School of Law to interviews with local jurists and practitioners. Advancement to responsible editorial positions is based primarily on performance of staff assignments and duties.

A vital activity sponsored by the Student Bar Association is the Legal Forum. Under the auspices of the Forum, outstanding speakers in a variety of legal and law related areas are invited to the School of Law to speak and to participate with students in seminars and conferences.

The Student Bar Association performs other important roles in integrating a student into the legal community at the School of Law. The Association's efforts are felt from the outset of a student's legal education when he attends the Association-conducted orientation program until completion of his education three years later when he attends his commencement exercises. During that time he will have attended Association-sponsored picnics and dinner-dances, faculty-student coffee hours and other informal get-togethers or taken part in such Association-sponsored programs as the Federal Indigent Defense Program and the State Criminal Appeals Program.

There are three law fraternities represented at the School of Law, Phi Alpha Delta, Phi Delta Delta, and Phi Delta Phi. They serve to promote student fellowship and an understanding and dedication to the tradition of the legal profession.

Student Services

STUDENT PRIVILEGES

Payment of the regular fees entitles the student at the School of Law to Student Health Service, and to the use of the libraries, gymnasiums, tennis courts, swimming pools, and other University facilities. It also makes such a student eligible to membership in the Associated Students of the University, subject to the payment of that organization's dues. Such dues give him the right to admission to certain athletic contests and to other student activities.

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

The purpose of the Student Health Service is to conserve the time of students for their classwork and studies, by preventing and treating acute illnesses.

Each registered UCLA student may, at need, have such consultations and medical care or dispensary treatment on the campus as the Student Health Service is staffed and equipped to provide, from the time of payment of his registration fee to the last day of the current semester.

The Health Service does not take responsibility for certain chronic physical defects or illnesses present at the time of entrance to the University.

LIVING ACCOMMODATIONS

Information concerning available accommodations for both married and single students (including, for single students, accommodations in University dormitories) may be obtained at the Housing Office, Room 161 Kerckhoff Hall, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024.

OFFICE OF SPECIAL SERVICES

The Office of Special Services functions administratively in matters pertaining to veterans' and veterans' dependents' educational benefits, selective service obligation, and assistance to physically disabled students. The Office also provides guidance counselling to students in the many complexities and technical problems related to veterans' benefits and to their service obligations and rights.

The Office aids law students subject to the Selective Service law in dealing with local draft boards and processes the requests of student reservists for verification of Law School registration. Special advice and assistance are extended to veterans in securing applicable benefits.

The Special Services Office is located in Room A-253, Administration Building.

PLACEMENT

The Placement Office of the School of Law brings many professional opportunities to the attention of its students and graduates. Through the office arrangements are made for interviews with representatives of local and national law firms, business firms, government agencies and others. Although the school cannot guarantee a position for each graduate, ample employment opportunities are made available.

A brochure describing the placement program of the School of Law will be sent upon request to the Placement Office, School of Law, University of California, Los Angeles, California 90024.

SCHOLARSHIPS, LOANS, PRIZES AND AWARDS

Scholarships

Applications for School of Law scholarships for second and third year students for the academic year 1968–1969 must be filed by August 15, 1968. Application forms may be obtained from the Office of the Assistant Dean, School of Law, University of California, Los Angeles, California 90024. The selection of Wilson Foundation Scholarship recipients will be based on the applications for admission of entering students.

HENRY AND EMMA DE GARMO SCHOLARSHIP

The McKenna Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta has established a scholarship for a student or students in good standing in the School of Law.

JOSEPH GOODMAN SCHOLARSHIP

A scholarship established by a recent alumnus of the School of Law, Mr. Joseph Goodman, class of 1965. The scholarship is awarded to a second or third year student in need of financial assistance, to defray the cost of books for his current academic year.

MONOGRAM INDUSTRIES SCHOLARSHIP

A gift of Monogram Industries, a Los Angeles based manufacturer, which provides for the full support of two students of a disadvantaged background during their first year of law school.

RABINOWITZ FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP

A gift of the Rabinowitz Foundation of New York City to provide for the full support of one student of a disadvantaged background for the three years of the study of law.

Loans

Various organizations and individuals have contributed toward the building up of several student loan funds, such as The American Bar Association Fund for Legal Education, Susan Kwan Memorial Loan Fund, Carl Laemmle Memorial Loan Fund, Lawyers' Wives of Los Angeles Loan Fund, and the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity Endowment Fund.

The gifts for this purpose are administered by the University in accordance with the conditions laid down by the donors.

Loans, with certain exceptions, are repayable as soon as possible without defeating the purpose of the loan or seriously inconveniencing the students.

Applications should be filed at least ten days in advance of loan need. For further information, apply to the Dean of Students, 2224 Administration Building.

Prizes and Awards

LUBIN SCHOLARSHIP

Mr. Alfred Lubin has established a tuition scholarship of $200 to be awarded to a member of the graduating class selected by the faculty to participate in Goldstein's Trial Techniques and Trial Practice Clinic conducted annually in Los Angeles. The award will be based upon scholastic standing and an aptitude for trial practice.

THE NATHAN BURKAN PRIZES

A first prize of $250 and a second prize of $100 are offered each year by The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) for the two best papers on any phase of Copyright Law submitted by students in their second or third year in the UCLA Law School. The prize-winning papers are subsequently entered in a National Competition in which further awards of $1000, $500, $200 and Honorable Mentions are made. The papers winning these national awards are published by ASCAP in an annual Copyright Law Symposium.

RICHARD T. DRUKKER PRIZE

The will of Jewell Udell provided for the contribution of funds to be invested and the proceeds therefrom to be awarded annually to a student of the University of California, Los Angeles, School of Law in honor of Richard T. Drukker, attorney, of Los Angeles. By virtue of this gift approximately $100 is awarded annually to the student of the University of California, Los Angeles, School of Law who is selected as the editor-in-chief of the UCLA Law Review for the ensuing academic year.

THE THOMAS JEFFERSON SOCIETY PRIZE

The Thomas Jefferson Society of the United States has established an annual prize of $100 which is open to all UCLA law students. The basis of the award is the best work submitted by any student as an individual research project, law review comment or casenote, or seminar paper relating to or discussing Jeffersonian precepts and principles as they bear on the public problems of the present era.
